VILLIATILE AND BRITFRAME FLAT TO PITCH ROOF CONVERSION

Britmet continues to find favour with the housing associations and local authorities for the refurbishment of the housing stock, The Britmet Tileform villa tile was specified on this over roofing project. Originally designed with a flat roof, which continued to cause water pounding on the flat roof due to the poor design and continuously leak throughout most of its lifespan.

The Strong, durable and secure Britmet Tileform Villatile roofing was the perfect roof finish for this renovation project. Impact on the supporting frame and foundations using the Britmet Tileform lightweight Flat to pitch system “Britframe” was only 16kg/m<sup>2</sup> so no extra structure had to be added.

Britmet supplied the Britframe Popped rafter system which was erected on site in record time and this was covered with the Britmet Tileform Villatile roof finish. Thermal levels of Insulation were also improved to achieve a value of 0.16 W/m<sup>2</sup>. The Britmet Tileform roofing system gives the tenant a fantastic styled new warm roof with massive savings off their heating bills.

Britmet Tileform Roofing, allows the contractors benefits as well, as the of installation a Britmet Tileform Flat to pitch system and Villatile panel system give the contractor great speed of installation, with only 2.20 tiles per m<sup>2</sup> weighing only 7kg/m<sup>2</sup>. The refurbishment of these properties enhances the area and giving the tenants a more pleasant area to live in.
